

Paw-sitive Happy Endings

Become New Beginnings

The SPCA has many goals – first and foremost, to award each and every adoptable animal entrusted in our care with committed families in a forever home. Our dreams can bloom into realities through donations, various programs and community outreach.

Adoption Center

Animals arrive at the SPCA from various sources. Adoption fees vary. All adoptable pets are spayed or neutered, vaccinated, microchipped, and come with a month of flea, tick & heartworm preventative.

Reva McClurg Memorial Animal Medical Center

Our full-service medical center is open to the public. Low cost spay/neuter surgeries are available. Also, from exams to vaccines and everything in between, medical service is affordable at the SPCA.

Guardian Angel Fund

Donate to the Guardian Angel Fund, which is designed to provide special medical care to SPCA animals. The fund enables the SPCA to provide life-saving veterinary assistance such as repairing broken bones, removing tumors, or treating for heartworms. It also provides funding for K-9 carts for handicapped pets.

Lend a Paw as a Volunteer

Have some spare time? The SPCA is a great place to volunteer! If you're ready to make a time commitment and want to work with the animals or for the animals, we have plenty of volunteering opportunities available.

Become a Foster Caregiver

Some cats and dogs are too young, too sick or just need some socialization before they can go to a forever home. They just need some extra tender loving care from foster caregivers. A few days or weeks with you could mean a lifetime for them.

Community Outreach

In order to reach the animals, the SPCA has to reach the people first! Through many community outreach programs including Humane Education, Pet Therapy, Campus Tours and much more, we help people in the community understand our mission. Ideas or suggestions are always welcomed and considered. Check our Web site or call for more information.

Sponsor a Pet

Sponsor any cat or dog at the SPCA. It will help us provide vaccinations and preventative care to all of our furry friends so they stay healthy and happy while they wait to find happy endings with forever homes.

Memory Lane bricks

Celebrate and remember the pets and people you love. On the SPCA campus, Memory Lane is paved with bricks engraved with words to mark special occasions, celebrations and memories of lost loved ones. The bricks come in different sizes and are available in accordance with various donation amounts.

Each animal that is received by the SPCA is given an opportunity for a second chance, a caring family and a forever home. By supporting the SPCA, whether adopting a furry friend or donating time, money, or items, you are giving orphaned animals a glimpse of hope and a better life.

Kindness can be a lot easier than you think. Opportunities to help are endless.
