SPCA Florida Receives The Petfinder Foundation and KONG Toy Grant

Lakeland, FL—SPCA Florida recently received a grant from The Petfinder Foundation and KONG to receive KONG toys for shelter dogs. The Petfinder Foundation has been a community supporter of SPCA Florida, providing funding and community collaboration opportunities for many years.

The Petfinder Foundation and KONG believes that every pet deserves to be happy. The KONG Toy Grant provides enrichment for adoptable pets waiting for their forever home.

Almost 2,000 dogs pass through SPCA Florida’s doors every year. SPCA Florida dogs are walked several times a day and have access to other fun activities such as play yards and an agility course. Even with all these activities, there is still downtime in the kennels. Having something fun and intriguing to do in the kennel improves the dogs’ lives - and a calm and content pup is likely to find a home faster than one who is bored and bursting with energy.

An SPCA Florida favorite thing to do is have fun surprises ready for the dogs when they come back from playtime. What better surprise than a KONG filled with peanut butter or treats that makes a pup’s eyes light up with joy.

Being able to provide entertainment leads to happier and more adoptable dogs. Which in turn means a shorter length of stay at SPCA Florida.
